

SPECIALITY WALL & WINDOW FILM

ALPINETINT

Have a special requirement? Chances are we have a film to suit.

Photochromic (or transition) window film darkens when the sun hits it, rejecting up to 50% of the sun's heat. The film returns to clear once the sun is off the window. Great for managing variations of light and heat (created by changing seasons for example), enabling you to create just the right environment.

Smart Switchable - ON - OFF mode switches the film from being clear (transparent is ON) to frosted (opaque is OFF). Acting as a kind of electronic blind, it provides complete privacy and security for any glass, window or partition with its frosted appearance. This unique film technology also transforms glass into a high definition rear or front projection screen. Applications this can be useful for include in bathrooms, toilets, study areas where the space can be seen through glass.

Total UV window film can be carefully applied to any glazing, it completely absorbs UV rays and the light emitted by the sun or the moon up to 420 nm (+ 90%). Reducing aging and discoloration of exposed items or furniture its the best option for protecting items that sit permanently or semi-permanently in a window or behind glass.

Projection film is designed specifically to enable projection of movies and/or images onto a wall or window surface.

Clearboard film transforms your glass surfaces into a "board" for use with dry erase markers, while preserving total clarity and transparency. Magnetic whiteboard film is another such option, laminated to a ferrous film, it transforms smooth or glazed surfaces into an erasable whiteboard. The added benefit of the magnetic film is that you can hang things from it that are magnetic or use magnetics to hold items up at the board.

Antimicrobial film are designed to kill 99.99% of germs on contact. The durable and waterproof laminate can be adhered to any surface to protect from bacteria.

With manufacturers' warranties and professional installation, you can rest assured you'll get the quality product and finish you deserve.

At AlpineTint, we have a range of window films to meet your individual needs.
